Credit Horrors Over Fore

[San Francisco] -- An unbelievable as it might sound, there is finally a realistic solution to your credit woes (if, that is, you have them).

A resigned top executive formerly with Equifax is now helping people eliminate their debts (without bankruptcy), erasing their bad credit, and actually increasing their FICO (Fair Isaac & Co scale) scores to above 700.

The man claims that the United States Government, specifically offices closely associated with banking and economic development, are very "duty" in that they've joined in a subversive effort to deliberately keep American slaves to higher interests and finance rates.

This would sound like just another "conspiracy theory" if it weren't for the fact that the past two decades indicate a pattern of using debts and extraordinary financial commitment to banks and other lending institutions.

The resigned exec says that "there exists a secret set of "principles, often referred to as protocols" that are engineered to "produce a desire in people to buy without really considering the consequences" and to in turn "enslave people before they can really do anything to rid themselves of this debt."

Your FICO Above 800?

[New York] - This may be a shock, and depending on what kind of shape your credit's in, but you may have a realistic shot at having perfect credit.

That's right: a FICO score (Fair Isaac and Company scale) of above 800 is not only the top echelon when it comes to credit ratings, but it's a score you may now be able to attain with the help of a Florida man who's turning people's frowns upside-down.

The gentleman is a former top level management executive with the second largest credit bureau (Equifax) and quit after eighteen years on the job.

The reason? He wanted to make a positive difference for a change. The fellow claims that there is actually something akin to a conspiracy plot between the United States Government, the Federal Reserve Banking System, and other elite groups to intentionally "enslave consumers to paying up to six times in interest on the actual values of nearly everything one can finance!"

This former exec mastered all the "esoteric in's and out's" while at Equifax so well that now he is able to do what even lawyers and judges consider next to impossible: really fix bad credit, add years of good credit history, and enhance people's FICO's all in just

Bad Credit Gone

[Dallas] -- A gentleman now a resident of Florida is now in the business of doing the impossible. he's helping people attain 700+ FICO scores, eliminate their debts without bankruptcy or consolidation, and just plain achieve good credit.

The fellow is a once executive with Equifax, the second largest credit reporting agency in the United States, and he claims that the US Federal Government, the Federal Reserve and the top three credit bureaus (Experian, Trans Union and Equifax) are all in collusion together to deliberately keep people in a "state of usury" (the taxation or interest gain off money).

Now after resigning after eighteen years with Equifax this man wished to make a positive difference. With the assistance of his wife and family he now reaches those in need through the vast online reach of the Internet.

His services are shockingly affordable compared to what one receives. A consumer with horrible credit can literally expect "magic" and one man reports his FICO score jumped from 595 to 760 in less than nine weeks.
